GOVERNMENT OF KERALA

Abstract

General Administration (SS) Department – Integration of Local Administration and Rural Development Departments into Department of Local Self Government – Orders issued.

GENERAL ADMINISTRATION (SS) DEPARTMENT

G.O.(MS). 368/99/GAD. Dated, Thiruvananthapuram, 29th April, 1999

ORDER

Consequent on the introduction of the three-tier Panchayati Raj, System of administration and decentralisation of power to the local bodies in the State, the role of Rural Development Department in the Secretariat in regard to the implementation and monitoring of developmental activities has changed considerably. The Estimates Committee (1996-98) of the Kerala Legeslative Assembly in its 12th Report has pointed out this aspect and suggested to examine the scope of integrating this Department and the Local Administration Department.

2. Government have examined the matter in detail and have decided to integrate the Local Administration Department and the Rural Development Department in the Secretariat and to rename the new Department as 'Department of Local Self Government'. The integration of the two departments has to be effected with least disturbance to the existing system. The field departments under the two existing administrative departments viz. Local Administration Department and the Rural Development Department, will therefore, continue as seperate departments as at present. These field departments will be reporting to the Secretary in charge of the new 'Department of Local Self Government' in the Secretariat.

3. The new Department will have the increased responsibility of implementing the various schemes of the Local Administration Department and also a large number of anti-poverty schemes hitherto implemented by the Rural Development Department. The Department will also have to lay down policy guidelines and issue administrative orders relating to the implementation of the various schemes in the decentralised set-up and oversee their implementation. It will also have administrative control over the personnel of the Block Panchayats hitherto controlled by the Rural Development Department.

4. The new Department will have to be placed under the control of a Principal Secretary. Since the area of responsibility is very large, two middle level officers of the rank of Secretary/Special Secretary will have to support and assist the Principal Secretary. One of them will be in charge of developmental activities in the Panchayats and be redesignated as Secretary/Special Secretary (Rural Development). The other will deal with all subjects relating to Municipalities and Corporations including development work and administration of various Acts and Rules relating to local bodies and he is redesignated as Secretary (Urban Development). Matters of common interest relating to both these Secretaries/Special Secretaries should invariably be submitted to the Principal Secretary and, through him, to the Minister (Local Self Government), wherever necessary.

5. The various sections of the existing two departments in Secretariat will continue as such. The only change will be that they will come under the new integrated department and will be redesignated appropriately as sections under the new Department. Any change in the allotment of subjects to the various sections will be considered in due course in the light of the actual working of the Department.

6. The current budgeting and other administrative practices for the field organisations will remain unaffected.

7. Consequential ammendement to the Rules of Business will be issued seperately.

By Order of the Governor
M. MOHANKUMAR
Chief Secretary to Government
